THE TRADE FINANCE QUARTERLY OF THE INTERNATIONAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

DCInsight* : Your companion for challenging economic times

All of these features - topical, informative and provocative - have led Gary Collyer, Technical Adviser to the ICC Banking Commission, to call DCInsight "an essential companion for all who work with letters of credit, guarantees and international trade".

Banks in peril, stock markets gyrating, international trade at risk. These are testing times for bankers, traders and everyone with a stake in the world of trade finance.

Now, more than ever, DCInsight, the International Chamber of Commerce's authoritative quarterly newsletter, is the place to turn for the guidance you need to understand the stresses in the financial system and the revolution taking place in letters of credit, guarantees and international trade.

The critical issues

For 13 years, readers in more than 100 countries have trusted DCInsight to bring them an inside look at the issues that count in trade finance:

- the credit crunch and letters of credit
- ICC's revised rules, the UCP 600
- the frauds that can cost banks millions
- the ICC Banking Commission's official Opinions
- the interviews with leading bankers, exporters and experts on letters of credit.

Timely

Now, more than ever, when the financial system and trade finance departments are going through severe upheaval, practitioners need to keep on top of the information they will find in DCInsight.

- the impact of the financial crisis on letters of credit
- the emerging markets in trade finance
- the capital requirements of leading banks.
